REWARD OFFERED FOR ASSAILANTS OF Mr. Shelton and Miss Mullan—The Victims Are Recovering.

All Richmond stood aghast yesterday morning at the enormity of the crime committed at her great western gate. The people did not know what to think. When they realized fully that a powerful man had been waylaid, murdered, and his body thrown into a ditch, they were shocked and appalled.

What are we coming to? and "what can be done to relieve the community of such dangers?" were questions earnestly and thoughtfully asked. Years ago an attempt at criminal assault was committed upon a lady in the heart of the city and the negro criminal was duly hanged after fair trial in the Hustings Court. This case is the very disagreeable results to which the might lead, I herewith instruct commissaries to take vigorous measures for the expulsion of such Jews from the city where they have no right to live, this where they are duty to do that if commissaries fail to carry out these instructions I deem myself obliged to inform the governor thereof.

LYNCHED BY A NEGRO MOB

Horrible Torture Inflicted Upon the Flend Who Assaulted a Woman of his Own Race.

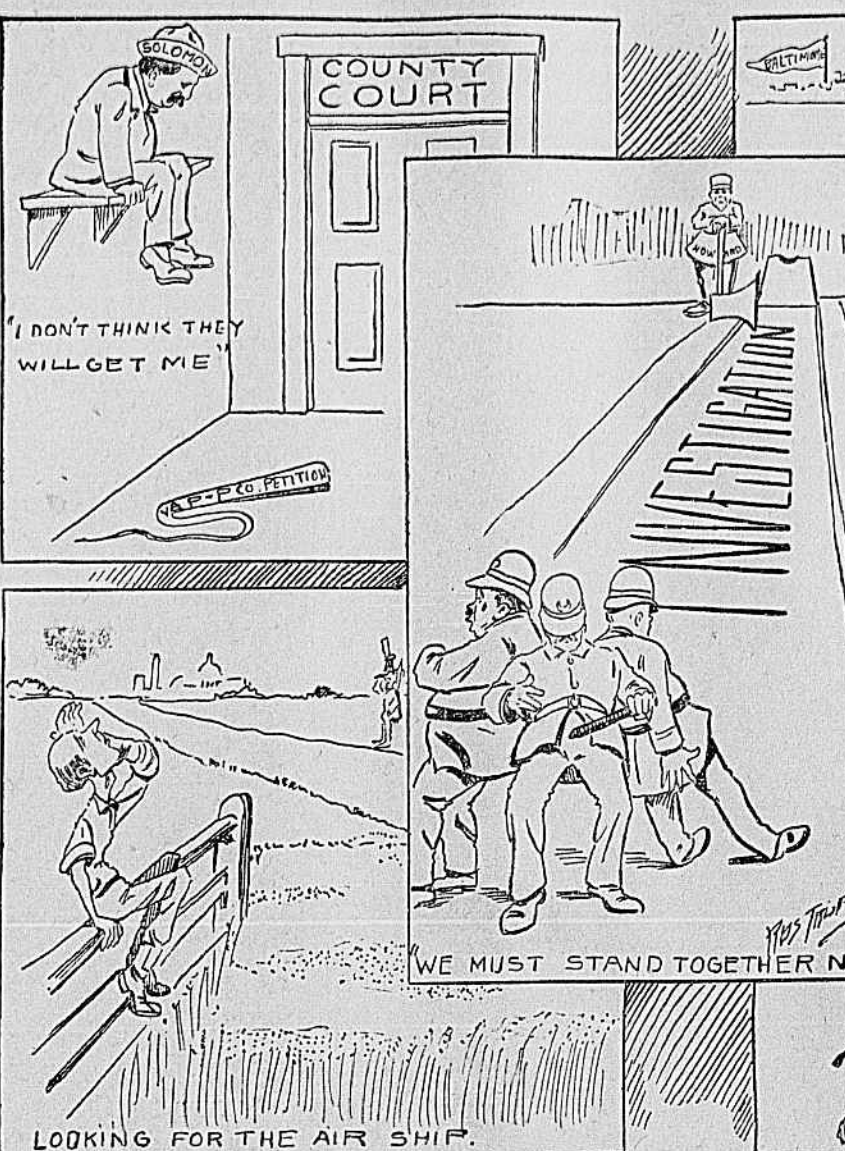

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) LAKE BUTLER, FLA., July 18.—After being chased for two days and nights by a mob of negroes, Charles Adams, the negro tramp, who criminally assaulted Sallie Jones, wife of a negro, who lives near here, was captured last night, brought before his victim, who identified him as her assailant, and then taken to Santa Fe swamp, where he was literally cuffed into mince meat.

Negroes alone administered lynch law on the negro, not a white man being present. Met Horrible Death.

The death meted out to the negro was as horrible as could have been devised. After Adams had been identified by his victim, who could hardly be restrained from attacking him, he was taken into the swamp, stripped of all his clothes and tied to a tree.

Some suggested hanging, but the majority cried that death by hanging was too easy.

"Let's cut him to pieces," cried one of the mob and the suggestion was adopted. The members of the mob began their knives and began carving the screaming wretch. Care was taken to avoid vital parts.

FIVE HUNDRED TO CATCH THEM

that white men must go about only when accompanied by others for protection? These are thoughts which came to the horrified Richmond mind yesterday morning when the news of the murder of Mr. Mullan was received.

Another thing he said was: "If I had had a pistol, I would have treated the brutes as they deserve, and to think I did not have a pocket knife with which to defend Miss Mullan and myself."

He is very solicitous about the young lady's condition, naturally, as it was when she had entrusted herself to his care and protection that she was hurt. But never a man thought harder for a woman, and this endurance was what saved her. Four or five times he knocked down the man in front of him. He did not see the other man until after he had been struck in the back of the head and for the moment paralyzed. He is happy beyond measure when he contemplates the fact that the black hounds were foiled.

The condition of Miss Pattle Mullan is far more pitiable. Mr. Shelton's suffering is one of regret over circumstances which he could not help.

YOUNG LADY IS NERVOUS. Miss Mullan is scarcely less nervous than on Friday night. During the early morning hours yesterday she had periods of unconsciousness. She could not think of the terrible experience yesterday without bursting into tears, so nervous was she. Dr. D. Meade Mann, her physician, stated last night that he had purposely refrained yesterday from speaking of it to her, even to get a description of her assailants. The experience was a frightful nightmare to her, and while her mind dwells on it incessantly, to speak of it makes it more real, and she cries out in her fear and mental anguish. Dr. Mann says she is getting along as well as can be expected.

An Active Search. The searching party of Friday night had hardly returned before active steps were taken for the capture of the brutes. Captain Tomlinson, of the detective force, suspected several negroes and sent Sergeant Gibson and Wren to the county in a buggy to find out about them. They men were found and it was established that the search had to go farther yet. Commonwealth's Attorney Richardson sought out the chief of police and urged that the entire detective branch of the force should be put to work on the case. This Major Howard did at once. The Mayor acted promptly, offered the sum of $500 reward for the capture of the men. This is the largest amount for a single reward which Richmond has offered in a long time, if not as great as ever offered.

Saw the Governor. Mr. Richardson had a conference with Governor Montague in the afternoon. His Excellency and the Commonwealth's Attorney will hold another conference tomorrow morning. It can be relied upon that the Governor will go what the state.

MORE LINES ARE IN OPERATION

Otherwise There Was Little of Disorder Yesterday—Iardella Refuses to Honor the Order of the Mayor and Play for Dress Parade.

Some Other Incidents of the Day.

But a few more days at best and the military occupation of Richmond, now a matter of some four weeks or nearabouts, will be at an end.

Each day sees a lessening of the forces in the city, and yesterday a larger batch were mustered out than ever before. And not only this. The officer in command, hitherto wary in his statements for publication, manifested no hesitation last night in declaring that he regarded the trouble as practically over, and, more important still, that there will be no check to the adopted plan of the withdrawal of the troops. By the middle of the week, he said, he hoped and expected that they would all be gone. Not a soldier will be left on duty and the civil authorities will again take the upper hand. The muskets and the bayonets will disappear from the streets after a ceaseless occupation of nearly a month. So accustomed has the eye grown to the sight of the blue-coated boys that their absence will seem strange, but all will unite in a sigh of relief that the conditions which demanded their presence are apparently, at least, no more.

Things Were Quiet. The belief of Colonel Anderson that the trouble is over is well sustained by the actual condition of things prevailing today. If there is at any time danger of trouble, that time is Saturday night, when after a week's work, men roam the streets with the alluring presence of the saloon there to suggest a manner for the disposal of their weekly wages. But strange as it may seem Saturday night was one of the quietest since the strike began. On the Fairmont line there was some more stone throwing and but no more serious damage was done. The occurrences were comparatively insignificant. At midnight military headquarters were sleepy with the dullness of the day and at the offices of the company, where a report had been received of any trouble.

In all directions, in fact, the day was rather quiet. There were some interesting developments bordering on the sensational in military circles. Five more strikers went to work during the day and there are still in circulation the report of a split in the union. Officers of the union deny this and declare that the men are still making a winning stand. They have no lack of calling the strike off. The company declares itself to be perfectly satisfied with the situation. A new branch was opened yesterday, and the company can get all the men it wants with badges and buttons. The company will begin to institute suits; the union has been legally advised that the men have a right to keep the badges and buttons as long as the company still has the demand. All the strike-breakers have now gone except those who have accepted permanent employment with the company; both Farley and Thompson have left.

At Military Headquarters. At the headquarters of Colonel Anderson everything is a-bustle with the departure of many troops. The withdrawal of the soldiers gathers momentum with the passage of the days, and more men left yesterday than has been the case for some time. The hurrahs for the boys as they rode away to the station could be heard for many squares.

When seen last night, Colonel Anderson was willing than he has been heretofore to discuss the removal of the soldiers. The Blues, under Major Chestwood—two companies—were released yesterday, and Company 1, of Farmville, went off with a yell. Company 1, of Danville, Captain Farrar, was also released, and it will go to-day probably. Other men also will doubtless be released to-day. Among those likely to go is Captain Craigbill's Lynchburg company. Speaking of the situation in general, Colonel Anderson said he believed the trouble was about over. There may from time to time be some sporadic outbreaks, but they will be such as can be easily managed by the police. The forces of the military have been reduced from about 1,500 to about 400 men and men. There will be no check to the removal of all the men. Just what the Governor's plans are the Colonel did not know, but he thought it likely that by the middle of this week all the soldiers will be gone. The military occupation will then come to an end, after continuing a period of about four weeks.

There were no soldiers on the streets yesterday, and none on the cars as has been the case for several days past. In view of this the order preserved was excellent. For a Saturday night things kept unusually quiet. There were many people on some of the streets, as is customary at the end of the week, but no disorder to amount to anything broke out.

The Court-Martials. Great interest was taken in military dress yesterday in court-martial proceedings. The report of the summary court called to consider the charges of Captain Farrar, of Company 1, of Danville, against his quartermaster-sergeant, Howard L. Weeks, made its report excellent. The court found the charges of the article to the effect that the meg of Company 1, would ask their captain to resign. The sergeant was charged with conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. As told in another column, he was found guilty, was reduced to the ranks, and was also sentenced to a forfeiture of $10 of his pay. Another sum-

Desperate Prisoners ESCAPE FROM JAIL

(By Associated Press.) PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 18.—One of the most daring escapes ever made from Clinton prison, at Dannemora, took place this afternoon, when four convicts, all "third timers," named Peter James, John Miller, and Edward Kennedy, succeeded in getting away. The men dug a passageway from the cellar of the factory under the wall and into the sewer, which empties about a half mile from the prison. They left their twenty suits in the sewer and it is believed that they have either been furnished with some clothes or have made some clothes for themselves out of overall material, which is manufactured in the prison. Their recapture is confidently anticipated.

THE RELIANCE WON AN UNDOUBTED VICTORY

(By Associated Press.) NEW LONDON, CONN., July 18.—There was no room for doubt in the victory of the Reliance to-day in the second run of the New York Yacht Club cruise of 38 miles from New Haven to this port. She led from the start, and finished more than a mile ahead of the Columbia, beating the former six minutes and twenty-nine seconds in elapsed time, and the latter sixteen minutes and twenty-four seconds. The Constitution beat the Columbia nine minutes and fifty-five seconds.

Saw the Governor. Mr. Richardson had a conference with Governor Montague in the afternoon. His Excellency and the Commonwealth's Attorney will hold another conference tomorrow morning. It can be relied upon that the Governor will go what the state.
